

References for NWA4797

(compiled by C. Meyer, Oct 2012)

- Connolly H.C. and 7 authors (2007c) The Meteoritical Bulletin, No. 93, 2008 March. Meteorit. & Planet. Sci. 43, 571-637.
- Huber L., Irving A.J., Maden C. and Wieler R. (2012) Noble gas cosmic ray exposure ages for four unusual Martian meteorites: Shergottites NWA 4797, NWA 5990, NWA 6342 and Nakhilite NWA 5790 (abs#1408). 43rd Lunar Planet. Sci. Conf. Lunar Planetary Institute @ The Woodlands.
- Irving A.J., Bunch T.E., Kuehner S.M., Korotev R.L. and Classen N.C. (2008) Unique ultramafic Shergottite Northwest Africa 4797: A highly shocked Martian Wehrlite cumulate related to enriched basaltic (not “Lherzolithic”) Shergottites (abs#2047). Lunar Planet. Sci. XXXIX Lunar Planetary Institute, Houston.
- Rumble D. and Irving A.J. (2009) Dispersion of oxygen isotopic compositions among 42 Martian meteorites determined by laser fluorination: Evidence for assimilation of (ancient) altered crust (abs#2293). Lunar Planet. Sci. XL, Lunar Planetary Institute @ The Woodlands.
- Satake W., Mikouchi T. and Miyamoto M. (2009a) Redox state of geochemically-enriched “Lherzolithic” Shergottites as inferred from Fe Micro-XANES analysis (abs). Antarctic Meteorites XXXII 64-65.
- Walton E.L., Irving A.J., Bunch T.E., Kuehner S.M. and Herd C.D.K. (2009) Extreme shock effects in relatively enriched Shergottite Northwest Africa 4797 (abs#1464). Lunar Planet. Sci. XL, Lunar Planetary Institute @ The Woodlands.
- Walton E.L., Kelley S.P., Herd C.D.K., Irving A.J. and Bunch T.E. (2011) A laser probe Ar/Ar investigation of Shergottite Northwest Africa 4797: Implications for shock metamorphism prior to ejection (abs#5324). Meteorit. & Planet. Sci. 46, A245.