

References for NWA998

(compiled by C. Meyer, Oct 2012)

- Boctor N.Z., Wang J., D'Alexander C.M.O., Hauri E. and Irving A.J. (2005a) SIMS analysis of volatiles and H isotope studies of the Nakhrites Yamato 000593 and NWA 998 (abs#1639). Lunar Planet. Sci. XXXVI, Lunar Planetary Institute, Houston.
- Bridges J.C., Warren P.H. and Lee M.R. (2004) Olivine decomposition features in the Y-000593 and NWA 998 Nakhrites (abs). Meteorit. & Planet. Sci. 39, A18.
- Carlson R.W. and Irving A.J. (2004) Pb-Hf-Sr-Nd isotopic systematics and age of Nakhrite NWA998 (abs#1442). Lunar Planet. Sci. XXXV Lunar Planetary Institute, Houston.
- Cartwright J.A., Gilmour J.D. and Burgess R. (2009d) Halogens in Nakhla and NWA998: Evidence of Martian weathering? (abs#5248) Meteorit. & Planet. Sci. 44, A47.
- Channon M.B., Bontifacie M., Stolper E.M. and Eiler J.M. (2009) Oxygen isotope compositions of mineral separates from SNC meteorites: Constraints on the petrogenesis of Martian magmas (abs#2450). Lunar Planet. Sci. XL, Lunar Planetary Institute @ The Woodlands.
- Channon M.B., Boyce J.W., Stolper E.M. and Eiler J.M. (2011) Abundances of Cl, F, H and S in apatites from SNC meteorites (abs#5401). Meteorit. & Planet. Sci. 46, A39.
- Chevier V., Lorand J.P. and Sautter V. (2011) Sulfide petrology of four Nakhrites: Northwest Africa 817, 998, Nakhla and Gornador Valadares. Meteorit. & Planet. Sci. 46, 769-784.
- Dreibus G., Huisl W., Spettel B. and Haubold R. (2006a) Halogens in Nakhrites: Studies of pre-terrestrial and terrestrial weathering processes (abs#1180). Lunar Planet. Sci. Conf. XXXVII Lunar Planetary Institute, Houston.
- Foley C.N., Wadhwa M. and Jannery P.E. (2003) Tungsten isotopic compositions of the SNC meteorites: Further implications for early differentiation history of Mars (abs#3163). Sixth International Conf. on Mars.
- Garrison D.H. and Bogard D.D (2005) Ar-Ar ages of Nakhrites Y000593, NWA998 and Nakhla and CRE age of NWA998 (abs#1137). Lunar Planet. Sci. XXXVI Lunar Planetary Institute, Houston.
- Irving A.J., Kuehner S.M., Rumble D. III, Carlson R.W., Hupé A.C. and Hupé G.M. (2002a) Petrology and isotopic composition of orthopyroxene-bearing Nakhrite NWA 998 (abs). Meteorit. & Planet. Sci. 37, A70.
- Marci M., Sautter V., Guihaumou N., Maras A. and Lorand J.P. (2004) Melt inclusions in augite from Nakhrites: A key for the composition of Martian magmatism (abs). Meteorit. & Planet. Sci. 40, A60.
- Nishiizumi K., Hillegonds D.J., McHargue L.R. and Jull A.J.T. (2004) Exposure and terrestrial histories of lunar and Martian meteorities (abs#1130). Lunar Planet. Sci. XXXV Lunar Planetary Institute, Houston.
- Russell Sara., Zipfel J., Folco Luigi, Jones R., Grady M.M., McCoy T. and Grossman J.N. (2003) The meteoritical bulletin, No. 87, 2003 July. Meteorit. & Planet. Sci. 38, A189-248.
- Szymanski A., Brenker F.E., Palme H. and El Goresy A. (2010) High oxidation state during formation of Martian Nakhrites. Meteorit. & Planet. Sci. 45, 21-31.

- Treiman Allan (2005b) The Nakhlite meteorites: Augite-rich igneous rocks from Mars. Chemie der Erde 65, 203-270. Elsevier
- Treiman A.H. and Irving A.J. (2008) Petrology of Martian meteorite Northwest Africa 998. Meteorit. & Planet. Sci. 43, 829-854.
- Wadhwa M., Crozaz G. and Barrat J.A. (2004) Trace element distributions in the Yamato 000593/000749, NWA 817 and NWA 998 Nakhrites: Implications for their petrogenesis and mantle sources on Mars. Antarctic Meteorite Research 17, 97-116. Nat. Inst. Polar Res., Tokyo.