

INTRODUCTION: 67489 is a dark gray, coherent and aphanitic rock (Fig. 1). It contains a few vugs, some scarce, pale yellow mineral grains, and plagioclases up to 300 μm . It is possibly a basaltic impact melt. It was taken from a regolith sample collected by the White Breccia boulders and has some zap pits.

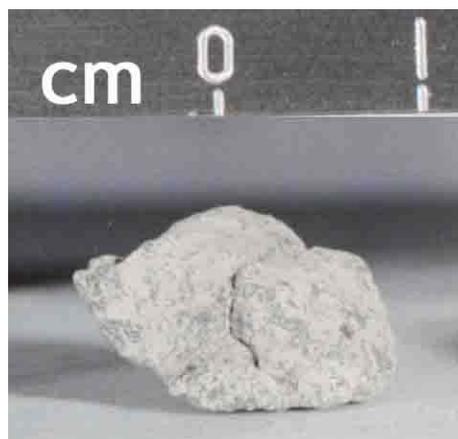

FIGURE 1a. S-72-41421.

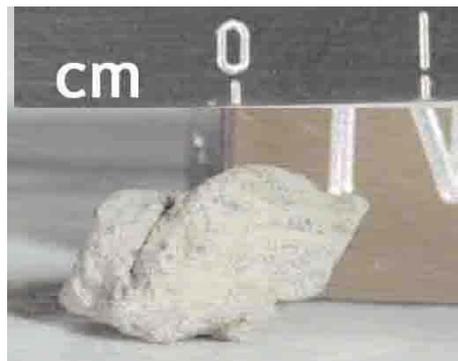

FIGURE 1b. S-72-41422.