

SE imaging the crater appears to have a “globular” texture on the crater lip.

5 kV spectra acquired from the crater (Mg, Si and C detected – note that C seems high) and from the Al foil substrate.

Comparison of crater residue and A-substrate spectra would suggest possibly volatile-rich residue. Is the C enrichment real?

Sub-micrometer crater observed on Foil C2027N